Wesley Medical Research is a not-for-profit charity that conducts medical research to improve patient outcomes and quality of life. The vast majority of funds that support this research come from private and corporate philanthropy. We take all opportunities that we can to publically recognise and thank our supporters as it is only through them that we can do our work and achieve the advancements that have translated in to clinical practice.

A list of our current corporate sponsors who have sponsored our research through the provision of funds, in-kind services or equipment or discounts can be found at: www.wesleyresearch.com.au/corporatesponsorship along with information for those organisations interested in becoming a supporter of medical research.
